

The biography of ALEC MILLER, Master Woodcarver, Guildsman, Sculptor and Philosopher was published in the UK this summer by author Graham Peel.

Trained in Glasgow, Miller was a founding member of the Cotswolds branch of the Guild of Handicrafts in Chipping Campden. He moved to California in 1939, spending his final work years carving for churches and schools, including All Saints in Carmel, Santa Catalina in Monterey and the Webb School in Claremont.

Copies are available by mail at a cost of £14 plus shipping, payable by check or Paypal.
